We are thrilled to partner with the In-Q Knowledge Center. This powerful tool will help food and beverage businesses of all sizes integrate FDA requirements seamlessly into their operations.”

Paul Valder, President and CEO

The In-Q Knowledge Center is an AI-powered platform designed to streamline compliance for FDA-regulated manufacturers and importers. More than just a regulatory tool, the In-Q Knowledge Center serves as a trusted daily work companion, helping businesses stay ahead in an ever-changing regulatory landscape. The platform is tailored for the food and beverage, pharmaceuticals, medical devices, cosmetics, veterinary, and tobacco industries, ensuring that users can meet the latest FDA regulatory obligations with unparalleled precision.

“We are thrilled to partner with Innova-Q to offer the In-Q

Knowledge Center to our client community,” said Paul Valder, president and CEO, at The Culture Advisory Group. “This powerful tool will help food and beverage businesses of all sizes—from brand owners, manufacturers and distributors to foreign suppliers and consulting firms - integrate FDA requirements seamlessly into their operations.”

Key Features of the In-Q Knowledge Center:

- Guidance, Comparison, and Translation: Receive on-the-spot regulatory guidance, compare requirements with the most recent FDA standards, and interact in 90 languages.

- Simplification of Complex Regulatory Requirements: Complex regulations are broken down with expert-validated citations, making compliance accessible for all team members.
- Assistance in Drafting Compliance Documents: The platform aids in drafting compliance documents, protocols, labels, and emails, ensuring strict adherence to regulatory requirements.

Encryption and Privacy: All sensitive data is fully encrypted, protected against unauthorized access, and managed with cutting-edge privacy protocols. Basic monthly subscription services for the In-Q Knowledge Center start at just $50.00 per user, with customized, comprehensive, and predictive data integration tools available for businesses requiring advanced support. The platform is perfect for any organization seeking to integrate FDA requirements into their design and operations, ensuring compliance is never a barrier to innovation.
