This exciting event is proudly presented by Visit Maryland and organized by a coalition of local restaurant favorites, including The Land of Kush, Underground Pizza, Golden West Cafe, and Vegan SoulFest organizer and co-founder, Naijha Wright-Brown of Black Veg Society and Maryland Vegan Eats.

"We are thrilled to bring Maryland Vegan Eats Summer Fest to downtown Baltimore, providing a platform for both seasoned vegans and those curious about plant-based living to connect, learn, and indulge," says Naijha Wright-Brown. "This year's festival promises a fantastic experience with an incredible lineup of vendors, entertainment, and educational opportunities." Maryland Vegan Eats and the Summer Fest aim to foster a greater appreciation for plant-based eating and its positive impact on health, animals, and the environment.

The Maryland Vegan Eats Summer Fest promises a weekend full of delicious food, engaging activities, and entertainment for all ages. Attendees can explore a variety of food vendors showcasing the best in vegan cuisine, participate in cooking demonstrations, and enjoy live music and entertainment. Join in the weekend of fun and enjoy delicious food, engaging activities, and a celebration of the thriving vegan community.

This festival is not just a celebration of plant-based living; it will also coincide with the bi-annual Maryland Vegan Restaurant Month, which runs from August 1st through August 31st, and highlights local establishments offering special plant-based dishes. The festival is currently seeking food vendors and restaurant participants for the vegan month.
