

New Industry Data Proves Vacation Ownership to be a Powerful Inflation Hedge

Consumers Can Lock In Tomorrow's Vacations at Today's Prices

MYRTLE BEACH, SC, UNITED STATES, July 4, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- With travel costs continuing to rise year-over-year, more vacationers are turning to vacation ownership as a way to guarantee future getaways without breaking the bank.

According to the 2025 ARDA State of the Vacation

Timeshare Industry Report, the average cost of a hotel stay has increased by more than 21% in the past five years—making predictable travel options like vacation ownership more appealing than ever.

It's not just a vacation—it's a travel decision that pays dividends in memories and value.”

Travis Bary, Co-President of Capital Vacations

Consumers who own vacation ownership interest(s) seen firsthand how this empowers their families to take control of their travel plans, lock in savings, and ensure high-quality vacations for years to come.

“With a one-time purchase and consistent annual fees, our owners can vacation at premium resorts without worrying about rate hikes, blackout dates, or fluctuating prices,” said Travis Bary, Co-President at Capital Vacations. “It's not just a vacation—it's a travel decision that pays dividends in memories and value.”

How Vacation Ownership hedges against inflation:

- Price Protection: Owners prepay at today's rates, protecting themselves from rising accommodation costs.
- Consistent Value: Predictable annual maintenance fees with increase caps ensure cost certainty for long-term travel planning.
- Exchange Power: Access to networks like RCI and internal Capital programs lets owners trade weeks for experiences in new destinations—without added inflationary pressure.

Today's traveler is looking for more than just a quick getaway—they want dependable, meaningful experiences that don't carry hidden fees or unpredictable costs. That's where vacation ownership stands apart.
