

Golfible Partners with The Golf Simulator Studio to Elevate Launch Monitor Testing

LONDON, LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, July 4, 2025

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Golfible, a trusted online resource focused on golf simulator reviews and launch monitor testing, has announced a new partnership with The Golf Simulator Studio, a leading UK-based company that provides golf simulator hire across the country and operates a dedicated training facility in West Sussex.

The collaboration will bring together Golfible's hands-on experience in product testing with The Golf Simulator Studio's modern setup to deliver more in-depth, reliable evaluations of golf technology. To explore Golfible's in-depth guides on golf simulators and launch monitors, visit Golfible.

As part of this partnership, Golfible will carry out detailed launch monitor testing, golf simulator reviews, and performance checks at The Golf Simulator Studio's purpose-built space. Testing in a controlled environment will allow Golfible to gather accurate data, film clear product demonstrations, and develop straightforward buying guides to help golfers choose the right equipment.

Golfers can look forward to clear, side-by-side comparisons of launch monitors and golf simulators, along with video content, walkthroughs, and test results that show how products really perform. The collaboration also means more independent advice from a team dedicated to practical golf technology reviews. Paul Field, owner of The Golf Simulator Studio, added: "Joining forces with Golfible is a great opportunity to highlight what today's golf simulators and launch monitors can really do. Together, we're making it easier for golfers to see how this equipment performs in practice."

Golfible and The Golf Simulator Studio plan to launch a series of comparison videos covering a range of simulators and launch monitors, run demo sessions to show how different models perform in various setups, and build resources to help golfers and coaches invest confidently in golf simulation technology.
