For the past ten years, Dr. Engin Erkal has been fully dedicated to nasal surgery. He carefully selects the most appropriate rhinoplasty technique—open or closed—based on each patient's unique anatomy and needs. This personalized approach aims to deliver both aesthetically satisfying results and functional improvement.

This unique surgical strategy is ideal for patients requiring detailed nasal tip refinement, bridge correction, functional improvements such as septoplasty, or aesthetic rebalancing. The result is a harmonious, proportionate nose that fits naturally within the patient's facial features.

"Rhinoplasty is not a one-size-fits-all operation," explains Dr. Erkal. "By adapting our technique to the patient's anatomy and expectations, we deliver results that are both functional and visually seamless."
