Joining OneAdvanced is an exciting opportunity to drive change in a company that values innovation and people equally. I look forward to making a meaningful impact on the company and its customers.”

Holly Foxcroft, Cybersecurity Business Partner

transformation solutions, is proud to announce the appointment of Holly Foxcroft as Cybersecurity Business Partner. The appointment highlights OneAdvanced's commitment to advancing cybersecurity excellence, fostering stronger collaboration between the business and cybersecurity teams.

According to The House of Commons Library, 43% of UK businesses have already experienced a cyberattack this year, with London reporting a significantly higher rate than national average. At a time when AI is dramatically escalating in terms of threat sophistication, Holly will play an integral part in helping OneAdvanced shape the future of secure digital transformation.

Holly brings an impressive track record in both cybersecurity and neurodiversity advocacy. As a former Head of Neurodiversity in Cyber Research and Consulting at Scott and May Consulting and senior cyber security practitioner, she has advised organisations across the public and private sector. Her expertise has been pivotal in tackling some of today's biggest digital challenges, while championing inclusive strategies to harness diversity in the industry.

Simon Riggs, Chief Information Security Officer at OneAdvanced, said: “We are thrilled to welcome Holly onboard. Today's AI-driven threats present complex challenges that demand robust, forward-thinking solutions capable of adapting to an ever-evolving digital landscape. Holly's expertise will be instrumental in helping us integrate cutting-edge technologies with industry best practices, furthering our mission in empowering customers to achieve scalable, secure digital transformation that drives lasting impact.”

Holly has an impressive track record in the field, with roles such as Associate Lecturer in Cyber Security and UK ambassador for the Global Council for responsible and ethical AI. Her accolades include being named one of the UK's Most Inspirational Women in Cyber 2017-2020, being recognised as a Top 25 Cybersecurity Leader 2021, and being included in the CSO 30 list 2022, 2023. Most recently, Holly featured in the CSO's Hall of Fame.
