NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, July 15, 2025

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Let's Talk™: Thank you for joining us today, Jess ! One will read on your site at Elegant Spreads by Jess, (<https://www.elegantspreadsbyjessllc.com/about>) that, "I come from a family of great Italian cooks, especially my mom & grandmother, who have spent a lifetime in food service, and it shows in all of the little details that helps us make your experience special and unique. I started working in the food industry at 15 years old. Learning as much as I could and then I started teaching myself and did until COVID, when I decided to open my own business. This has given me not only a professional insight into making peoples food dreams come true, but a personal taste which lets me guide customers to the best possible pairings. We create memories and experiences at Elegant Spreads by Jess."

Before we talk about the services you provide

(<https://www.elegantspreadsbyjessllc.com/services>), success stories

(<https://www.elegantspreadsbyjessllc.com/about>) and upcoming events, please tell us more about your journey. We couldn't help but think how YOUR STORY is very much the story behind the hit movie Nonnas (<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nonnas>), starring Vince Vaughn. Please tell us more!

Jessica Williams: My favorite line in that movie is "That food is love and as long as I have their food, I'm gonna have them" and that hit home for me. I would always help with any food preparation and try to watch everything my grandma and mother did. When I lost my grandma when I was young, she was my best friend. We would hangout everyday while my mom was working and we would just cook & drink tea. I learned so much from my grandma, every sunday dinner was more delicious then the last. When I was in middle school, I would tell my mom..

don't worry ill make dinner tonight. That's when we all noticed the skills of making it pretty and love I had for cooking and hosting. My mom says I am just like my grandma and she loves to see how much more I am everyday growing up. I always wanted to be like my grandma. Where anyone can come over, have amazing endless amounts of food and bringing everyone together. That is one thing that I believe is a fact and I stand by. "Food makes memories and brings people together."

Let's Talk™: Please give us an overview of the services you provide (<https://www.elegantspreadsbyjessllc.com/services>).
