“Earning our third consecutive IAC reaccreditation is a testament to our team's relentless pursuit of clinical excellence and patient safety,” said Dr. Nisha Bunke, Medical Director at LJVV. “We remain fully committed to offering innovative diagnostic and treatment options that improve the lives of patients suffering from chronic venous and vascular disorders.”

The IAC's accreditation process is a comprehensive, peer-reviewed evaluation based on national standards and best practices in vascular medicine. This reaccreditation affirms LJVV's ongoing excellence in clinical quality, safety, and patient outcomes.

La Jolla Vein & Vascular is known for exceeding industry standards in the diagnosis and treatment of venous disorders. It remains the only vein center in the San Diego region offering the full spectrum of FDA-approved, commercially available vein treatments—enabling physicians to craft truly individualized care plans for every patient.

LJVV's multidisciplinary team combines advanced technology, evidence-based protocols, and compassionate care to address a wide range of conditions, including:

- Varicose vein treatment
- Spider vein removal
- Chronic venous insufficiency management
- Lymphedema therapy
- Advanced ultrasound-guided procedures
- Laser treatment of blood vessel disorders

With an on-site vascular laboratory, LJVV streamlines the diagnostic and treatment process, improving efficiency, accuracy, and overall patient experience. This all-in-one model sets the clinic apart in a field where fragmented care is still common.

Further strengthening its clinical capabilities, LJVV welcomed Dr. Amanda Steinberger, a Harvard-trained interventional radiologist, to the team in 2023. Her specialization in image-guided vascular procedures enhances LJVV's minimally invasive treatment offerings and supports the center's mission to deliver cutting-edge care.

In response to growing patient demand, LJVV has also expanded its services to include aesthetic laser treatments. These advanced therapies target skin concerns such as pigmentation, sun
