

Insurance Agent Sissy LeClair of Blackadar Insurance Agency Shares Insights as Insurance Checkup Expert in HelloNation

What are the risks of not conducting a regular business insurance review?

LONGWOOD, FL, UNITED STATES, July 11, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- What are the risks of not conducting a regular business insurance review? That question is addressed in a recent HelloNation article by Sissy LeClair of Blackadar Insurance Agency Inc. in Longwood, Florida. LeClair emphasizes that an annual insurance checkup is not a formality, but a critical risk management strategy for any business. As operations evolve—through growth, new assets, or staffing changes—so do exposure levels, and failing to adjust coverage accordingly can leave businesses vulnerable to financial and legal consequences.

The article outlines how shifting regulatory requirements demand routine insurance evaluations to stay compliant, particularly in areas such as workers' compensation, liability, and property insurance. LeClair points out that without regular reviews, businesses risk being either underinsured or overinsured, resulting in either inadequate protection or unnecessary spending. She also highlights how emerging threats like cyber risks require modernized policies to reflect today's digital landscape.

An annual insurance checkup offers an opportunity to align coverage with a company's current risk profile, ensure legal compliance, control costs, and prepare for new operational realities. The article, titled Annual Business Insurance Checkup: A Strategic Imperative, offers clear, actionable guidance for business owners looking to protect their operations through diligent insurance policy evaluation.
