

Linguation Sets New Standards in Certified Translations

MUNICH, BAYERN, GERMANY, July 11, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ --

Linguation.com, founded in 2019, is redefining how certified translations are delivered across Europe. With a fully digital platform, the company streamlines the entire process – from document upload to delivery – offering a fast, user-friendly experience without compromising on quality.

Certified Translations from Sworn Experts

Linguation collaborates with a broad network of court-sworn specialist translators. This ensures that every certified translation meets the legal and formal requirements of public authorities, universities, and institutions – whether for birth certificates, employment references, or marriage documents.

Focus on Security and Innovation

To meet growing demands for digital trust, Linguation has launched a verification feature that allows translated documents to be authenticated online. This supports customers in completing official procedures faster, especially in increasingly digital public administrations.

A Clear Mission

“Our goal has always been to combine translation expertise with the convenience of digital services,” says a company spokesperson. “We want to make it as easy as possible for people to get official documents translated properly and on time.”
