

NEQSOL Holding Hosts Future Leaders from Maastricht University to Inspire Dialogue on Leadership and Sustainable Growth

International student visit part of NEQSOL Holding's commitment to nurturing future leadership and fostering global dialogue on innovation and sustainability.

BAKU, AZERBAIJAN, July 13, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- NEQSOL Holding had the distinct pleasure of hosting a group of exceptional students from Maastricht University's SCOPE Maastricht as part of the International Economic Orientation (IEO) 2025 program. The visit to NEQSOL's Baku headquarters provided a unique platform for exchanging ideas, exploring cross-sector operations, and inspiring the next generation of global talents.

Welcoming these students from diverse nationalities reflects NEQSOL's commitment to global talent development. As an international company, NEQSOL believes in opening doors for future professionals to gain real-life understanding of business operations and practical experience. This visit aligns closely with NEQSOL's broader vision: nurturing future professionals, encouraging intercultural dialogue, and investing in the next generation of talent who will shape a smarter, more connected, and forward-thinking world.

"Capital is only part of the equation," said Yusif Jabbarov, Chairman of NEQSOL Holding. "At NEQSOL, we see ourselves not only as investors but as builders of ecosystems that empower people to lead, innovate, and positively transform society. The energy and curiosity these students brought reminded us that the future of business is about people prepared to make innovation truly meaningful.”

Meric Tunc, Chief Human Capital Officer of NEQSOL Holding, emphasized the value of such international exchanges: “Welcoming these bright minds is an investment in global leadership. By sharing our journey and learning from theirs, we create a dynamic space for future leaders to reflect on the challenges and opportunities that lie ahead.”

Vincent Rengier, a business and economics student at SCOPE Maastricht, shared his appreciation: “Huge thanks to NEQSOL Holding for their exceptional hospitality last week! The effort put into hosting us was truly impressive, and the speakers were incredibly informative. Special appreciation to Fuad Mirzayev and Sabina Gasimova for making it all happen!”

Initiatives like this are an essential part of NEQSOL Holding’s long-term vision to build not just successful businesses, but resilient and forward-thinking communities. By engaging with young talent from around the world, NEQSOL strengthens its commitment to fostering leadership that transcends borders and industries. As these young leaders return to their studies and future endeavors, they carry forward lessons and perspectives that will help shape industries and societies for decades to come.

NEQSOL Holding remains steadfast in its mission to support and invest in people today — creating a more inclusive, innovative, and sustainable global economy for tomorrow.
