“John Marshall Media and Kevin Stillwell are genuinely excited to share the audiobook of Tatae's Promise with listeners,” said the team at John Marshall Media. “For Kevin, producing this project was a deeply meaningful experience — the story's heart, its themes of family and legacy, really struck a chord, and he's proud to help bring that emotion to life in a way only audio can.”

Wilkerson, whose voice gives vibrant presence to the central character, Hinda Mondlak, shares her deep emotional connection to the role:

“When I first began reading Tatae's Promise, I felt an immediate connection. It touched my heart. Hinda's story is extraordinary... I was moved by the power of the book's message—its unwavering stand against dehumanization and antisemitism, and its celebration of the human spirit... Giving voice to her story was not only a privilege, but a profound responsibility.”

Tatae's Promise has already earned global recognition in print and eBook formats. It is the winner of 13 book awards, including the Hemingway Gold Medal from the Historical Fiction Company.

“The response to Tatae's Promise around the world has been extraordinary,” said Gordon McClellan, founder of DartFrog Books. “It's more than a book—it's a testimony to the resilience of the human spirit. We're excited for Hinda's story to come to life in audio form, ensuring that this story of unimaginable courage, faith, and love will reach even more hearts and ears around the world.”

The audiobook version of Tatae's Promise is available on all major audiobook retail and library platforms.
