

TimeForge Joins Square's Ecosystem to Make Managing Teams Easier Than Ever

Integration simplifies scheduling and labor tracking for Square sellers in foodservice and retail.

LUBBOCK, TX, UNITED STATES, July 14, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- TimeForge, the leading provider of labor management solutions for the retail and foodservice industries, is excited to announce its partnership and integration with Square, the technology company that makes commerce and finance services easy and accessible.

New integration simplifies labor management for Square sellers.

The integration connects TimeForge's intelligent labor management tools with Square's robust point-of-sale system, enabling operators to efficiently manage staff and sales.

Integrating with Square means our customers can now connect sales and staffing data in real time — so they can spend less time crunching numbers and more time focusing on running a great business.”

Anthony Presley, Managing Partner, TimeForge

Designed to support restaurants, cafes, retailers, and other service-focused businesses, this integration allows labor schedules and sales data to flow seamlessly between platforms. With real-time visibility into sales performance, TimeForge users can forecast labor needs more accurately, adjust staffing levels quickly, and reduce unnecessary labor spend — all while giving managers back valuable time.

With the TimeForge-Square integration, operators can:

- Automatically sync sales data from Square POS into TimeForge
- Forecast labor needs using real-time sales trends
- Adjust staffing levels quickly to avoid under- or over-scheduling

- Minimize manual entry and reduce errors across platforms
- Improve labor cost control while staying focused on the guest experience

“Our mission at TimeForge has always been to help business owners make smarter, faster labor decisions,” said Anthony Presley, Managing Partner at TimeForge. “Integrating with Square means our customers can now connect sales and staffing data in real time — so they can spend less time crunching numbers and more time focusing on running a great business.”

Thousands of businesses rely on Square to power everything from payments and POS to payroll and reporting. By partnering with TimeForge, Square sellers gain access to advanced scheduling, timekeeping, and labor optimization tools that integrate directly with the systems they already use every day.

The partnership reflects both companies’ shared commitment to helping modern operators simplify their tech stacks while staying competitive in a fast-paced environment. With the integration now available, TimeForge and Square are empowering teams to operate with clarity, confidence, and control.
