Addiction doesn't wait—and neither should love. Intervening is faith in action.”

Bobby Nicholl

For many families, addiction feels like a spiritual battle as much as a medical one. Now, with this new service, Next Step Intervention brings faith, compassion, and clinical precision together to rescue lives, restore families, and point individuals toward long-term healing through Christ-centered care.

A Mission Rooted in Faith, Action & Transformation

Next Step Intervention is not just another intervention service—it's a calling. Led by Bobby Nicholl, a devout Christian and trusted interventionist, the team operates on one fundamental belief:

“Love is spelled S-H-O-W U-P,” says Nicholl, quoting Pastor Rick Warren. “When a family chooses to intervene, that's faith in action. It's saying, ‘I believe God can redeem this person, and I won't sit back and let addiction take them.’”

This new program is for families who want to approach addiction recovery through a biblical lens—one that acknowledges the emotional, spiritual, and physiological roots of substance abuse.

Nicholl adds, "Addiction doesn't wait. Neither should love. Bottom might be six feet under. Intervening is the right thing to do—and the right time is now."

Why Christian-Based Interventions? Why Now?

Addiction in America has reached epidemic proportions, claiming over 100,000 lives a year. For families with strong spiritual values, traditional interventions often feel impersonal or clinical. Next Step's Christian-Based Interventions offer an alternative that aligns with a family's faith, values, and beliefs.

What makes this service unique:

Biblical Framework for Healing: Rooted in scripture, every step of the intervention process reflects core Christian principles—grace, truth, accountability, and redemption.

Spiritual & Clinical Integration: Families don't have to choose between faith and medical science. This program blends both.

Experienced Christian Counselors & Pastoral Partners: Bobby and his team collaborate with trusted Christian treatment centers and ministries nationwide.

Compassion Without Compromise: With love and firmness, interventions are handled with dignity, urgency, and clarity—never shame.

Bobby Nicholl: A 99% Success Rate Built on Tenacity & Faith

For decades, Bobby Nicholl has been the go-to expert for families who feel powerless in the face of addiction. His story isn't just about credentials—it's about compassion, grit, and soul-deep purpose.

"When I'm asked to help coordinate an intervention, my heart and soul are all in," says Nicholl. "God doesn't give up on people, and neither do I. I'll do whatever it takes to help a family reclaim their loved one."

With thousands of successful interventions nationwide and a 99% success rate, Nicholl's track record speaks for itself. But what really sets him apart is his ability to connect deeply with both families and the person struggling with addiction—without judgment, without fluff, and without delay.

What Families Can Expect from the Christian-Based Intervention Program:

Faith-Led Framework

A spiritual foundation for understanding addiction, confronting it in love, and guiding someone toward recovery.

Family-Centered Process

Full support, coaching, and emotional preparation for every family member before, during, and after the intervention.

Access to Christian Treatment Centers

Connections to faith-based inpatient and outpatient rehab programs tailored to individual needs, including detox, therapy, and pastoral counseling.

Post-Intervention Aftercare & Support

Ongoing prayer, resources, and faith-based family coaching after the loved one enters treatment.

Nationwide Services

No matter where you live, Next Step Intervention will coordinate logistics, travel, and placement—because help can't wait.

The Emotional Case for Intervention—Now

Many families hesitate. They fear confrontation. They worry the person “isn't ready.” But as Bobby Nicholl passionately teaches: waiting can kill. “The only time doing the right thing is wrong,” he says, “is when you don't do it.”

This program is designed for people of faith who are ready to stop watching from the sidelines and start believing that God's timing is now. Christian-Based Interventions offer more than a second chance—they offer a redemptive path forward for the addict and the entire family.
