Miracle of Mobility Host: Candace Cameron Bure

"I'm honored to return as the host of Miracle of Mobility," said Candace Cameron Bure. "I had the incredible opportunity to see the mission's work firsthand, delivering wheelchairs to those in need and meeting some of the amazing individuals whose lives have been transformed. I look forward to sharing inspiring stories of hope, impact, and joy."

Bure will also host Virtual Miracle of Mobility, premiering Saturday, Sept. 21, 2025, which will feature a powerful musical performance by for KING + COUNTRY. The Grammy award-winning duo is returning to the virtual event for the third time, having first partnered with Free Wheelchair Mission for the inaugural livestream in 2020.

"We believe in the power of compassion and community, and we're excited to be part of this meaningful virtual event once again," said for KING + COUNTRY singer Luke Smallbone. "It's incredible to see what happens when people come together to lift others up, especially through something as life-changing as a wheelchair."

"We're thrilled to bring together communities across the country for this year's Miracle of Mobility events," said Nuka Hart, CEO of Free

Wheelchair Mission. "Each gathering is an opportunity to celebrate hope and make a real difference. Every dollar raised helps to provide someone with the gift of a wheelchair—unlocking freedom, independence, and new opportunities."

Virtual Musical Performance by for KING + COUNTRY

In addition to the Orange County and virtual events, a regional Miracle of Mobility gathering will take place in Seattle, Washington, on October 11, 2025, at 5:30 PM PDT.

Miracle of Mobility events will include inspiring music, interactive ways to participate, heartening messages from friends around the world, including opportunities to virtually meet wheelchair recipients, and other exciting surprises.

Join the movement: RSVP for the virtual event, attend a regional gathering, host a watch party, or get tickets to the Orange County event at MiracleofMobility.org.

NOTE: for KING + COUNTRY will only be performing at the virtual event, not in Orange County, Seattle, or other in-person events.
