

From Battlefield to Homefront: Comfort Keepers Caregivers Trained to Support Veterans with PTSD and Aging Challenges

CHERRY HILL, NJ, UNITED STATES, July 17, 2025

/EINPresswire.com/ -- At Comfort Keepers of Cherry

Hill, supporting veterans has long been a vital part of the mission to provide compassionate, high-quality in-home care. With deep respect for those who have served, Comfort Keepers offers experienced, knowledgeable caregivers who understand the unique physical and emotional challenges many veterans face as they age, including post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) and service-related health conditions.

Caring for veterans is more than just meeting physical needs — it's about honoring their service and understanding the life experiences that shape them.”

Jim Winn

Veterans often require care that goes beyond routine support. Many deal with the long-term effects of combat trauma, limited mobility, chronic pain, or cognitive decline. Comfort Keepers' caregivers are well-versed in providing trauma-informed care, meaningful companionship, and daily assistance that prioritizes dignity, structure, and independence.

“Caring for veterans is more than just meeting physical needs — it's about honoring their service and understanding the life experiences that shape them,” said Jim Winn, Owner of Comfort Keepers Cherry Hill. “Our caregivers are trained to offer support that respects each veteran's journey while helping them thrive safely at home.”

Comfort Keepers offers a full range of in-home care services, including personal care, medication reminders, transportation, meal preparation, and mobility assistance. Each care plan is tailored to the individual, taking into account military history, medical needs, and personal preferences.

Through the organization's signature Interactive Caregiving™ approach, caregivers engage veterans in activities that support emotional, physical, and mental well-being — whether through conversation, routine tasks, or hobbies that bring comfort and connection.
