Founded on a mission to protect families and homes, the Marietta-based business is rapidly becoming a trusted name in the community for its certified, personalized approach to dryer vent care.

"Every year, thousands of house fires in the U.S. are linked to clogged dryer vents," said Steven Peter, founder and U.S. Navy veteran. "At Mama Bear, we take that risk seriously. Our team is here to give families peace of mind by making their homes safer and their dryers more efficient."

A Mission Rooted in Safety and Service

Mama Bear Dryer Vent Care was established with a focus on family safety and customer care. The company's tagline, "We Protect Your Home Like It's Our Own," reflects its commitment to treating every home with care and attention.

Raising Awareness About Dryer Vent Risks

According to the U.S. Fire Administration, dryer fires cause an estimated 2,900 home fires annually, resulting in five deaths, 100 injuries, and $35 million in property loss. The leading cause is failure to clean dryer vents.

“Many homeowners don’t realize how much lint can accumulate in a dryer vent or how quickly it becomes a fire hazard,” Peter explained. “Even energy-efficient appliances can’t compensate for a clogged vent. That’s why regular inspections and cleanings are critical.”

Warning signs of a clogged or failing dryer vent include:

Clothes taking longer than one cycle to dry.

Musty or burning odors during operation.

D80, D90, or D95 error codes on modern dryers.

Excess lint buildup behind the dryer or around vent outlets.

Mama Bear’s technicians use advanced tools, including internal cameras and airflow meters, to assess vent systems. Before-and-after photos and digital airflow readings are provided to customers for full transparency.

A Personalized Approach to Home Care

What sets Mama Bear apart is its focus on personalized service. “Every home is different,” said Peter. “We take time to listen to our customers’ concerns and design solutions that fit their needs. Whether it’s clearing out an animal nest, replacing damaged ductwork, or installing a new vent termination, we make sure the job is done right the first time.”

This attention to detail extends to emergency services, where Mama Bear’s team responds quickly to urgent issues such as blocked vents or disconnected ductwork. Same-day service is often available for families in Marietta, Roswell, and Alpharetta.

Benefits Beyond Safety

While fire prevention remains the top priority, professional dryer vent services also deliver other advantages:

Shorter drying times reduce energy use and utility bills.

Improved appliance efficiency extends the life of dryers.

Healthier indoor air by preventing mold and humidity buildup.

"Our goal is to give homeowners back their time, save them money, and most importantly, keep their families safe," Peter said.

Community-Focused and Veteran-Owned

As a veteran-owned small business, Mama Bear Dryer Vent Care emphasizes service, integrity, and community connection. "Serving in the Navy taught me the value of discipline and attention to detail," said Peter. "We've brought those same values to our work here in Georgia."

The company also supports local initiatives and encourages preventative maintenance as part of responsible homeownership.
