

Southern Careers Institute Launches Online UI/UX Designer Program to Meet Growing Industry Demand

New 33-week course prepares students for digital design careers with hands-on training and skill badges

AUSTIN, TX, UNITED STATES, July 21, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Southern Careers Institute \(SCI\) has introduced a new online UI/UX Designer program aimed at equipping students with the skills needed to enter the fast-growing field of user interface and user experience design. The 33-week program offers a practical, design-focused curriculum that covers the full UI/UX process, from initial research to prototyping and presentation.

Through lab-based training, students are taught to conduct user research, create wireframes and sitemaps, and apply UX strategies to web and app development. The course also includes an introduction to coding fundamentals, such as HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and backend concepts, which are key to designing intuitive digital interfaces.

Coursework is structured around nine core classes, including design thinking, research methods, front-end theory, interaction design, and a final capstone project. Graduates of the program have the opportunity to earn nine skill badges to demonstrate their proficiency across UI/UX competencies.

Upon completion, students will be prepared for entry-level roles such as UX research assistant, web designer, UI designer, product designer, or interactive designer. The demand for UI/UX specialists spans multiple industries, including technology, healthcare, finance, and marketing.

SCI's program responds to the growing need for professionals who can blend creative problem-solving with technical know-how to improve digital experiences. By offering a structured, flexible online pathway, the UI/UX Designer program can open doors for learners seeking to build careers in digital design.
