

Sharon Stone's Metal Ice Pick from Basic Instinct (1992) Headlines Propstore's Online Entertainment Memorabilia Auction

One of the most chilling—and iconic—props in modern thriller history is now up for grabs.

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, July 22, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ --

Propstore, one of the world's leading sellers of entertainment memorabilia, is thrilled to announce the inclusion of Catherine Tramell's (Sharon Stone) metal ice pick from Basic Instinct (1992) in its upcoming Online Entertainment Memorabilia Auction, taking place July 8–24, 2025, at Propstore.com. The infamous murder weapon is estimated to fetch $1,500.

Catherine Tramell's (Sharon Stone) metal ice pick from Basic Instinct (1992)

Crafted from metal with a black handle, this ice pick was wielded—or perhaps merely implied to be wielded—by Sharon Stone in her provocative and unforgettable performance as Catherine Tramell, the seductive and possibly sociopathic crime novelist at the center of Paul Verhoeven's neo-noir thriller. The item appears throughout the film both directly and symbolically, serving as the visual cue that haunts Michael Douglas's detective character and audiences alike.

The ice pick from Basic Instinct is one of those rare props that transcends cinema and becomes a part of pop culture mythology.”

Brandon Alinger, COO of Propstore

Basic Instinct (1992) remains one of the most talked-about films of the '90s, notorious for its psychological tension, sexually charged plot, and Stone's career-defining performance. The ice pick became a cultural icon following the film's release, not only for its shocking use in the opening murder scene but also for its quiet, unsettling presence throughout, most memorably during the infamous interrogation scene where Stone's character coolly crosses and uncrosses her legs, unarmed... or so it seems.

“The ice pick from Basic Instinct is one of those rare props that transcends cinema and becomes a part of pop culture mythology,” said Brandon Alinger, COO of Propstore. “It’s a weapon, a metaphor, and a mystery all in one, representing the razor-sharp edge that made Catherine Tramell so unforgettable.”

The ice pick is one of over 600 lots featured in Propstore’s Online Entertainment Memorabilia Auction, which includes iconic props, costumes, and collectibles from some of Hollywood’s most celebrated films and TV series. Registration is now open, with the full catalog live as of July 8. The auction closes on July 23 and 24.
