

Heisenberg Chemicals, Benson Petroleum, and Paret Mining Launch Transformational Energy Partnership in Kentucky

Strategic Alliance to Deploy Advanced Fracking Technology Across 1,000+ Acres of Natural Resource-Rich Land

BOWLING GREEN, KY, UNITED STATES, July 25, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- In a bold move set to reshape the domestic energy sector, Heisenberg Chemicals, a national leader in proprietary oilfield technologies, has entered into a landmark strategic partnership with Benson Petroleum LLC, Paret Mining LLC, and the Benson Jewish Ministries Foundation, a 508(c)(1)(A) faith-based nonprofit focused on economic justice and community reinvestment.

The partnership centers around the development of over 1,000 acres of mineral-rich land in Bowling Green, Kentucky, a site poised for high-output production of natural gas, tar sands, and sweet crude oil. Utilizing Heisenberg's next-generation fracking and chemical treatment solutions, the collaboration aims to unlock significant energy reserves while prioritizing environmental efficiency, long-term profitability, and regional economic uplift.

"This is more than an energy deal—it's a blueprint for American innovation," said Nick Barron, President of Heisenberg Chemicals. "By combining advanced chemical engineering with visionary leadership, we're setting a new gold standard for oil and gas development."

The venture will be led by William Benson, President of Benson Petroleum and Executive Director of the Benson Jewish Ministries Foundation, alongside Emmanuel Fritz Paret, Founder of Paret Mining LLC, who brings decades of operational and mineral expertise to the table.
