

mopak Launches “UrbanGlide” Crossbody, a CoffeeLeather Take on 2025’s CurvedBag Trend

Lightweight 0.35kg sling made from recycled coffee grounds offers a sustainable alternative to premium curved crossbody bags.

LONDON, LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, July 28, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- London-based lifestyle accessories label mopak today unveiled the UrbanGlideCrossbody—a 4litre sling crafted from recycled coffee-ground leather and engineered for hands-free city travel. The silhouette joins a broader luxury-accessory shift toward soft, sculptural hobo shapes that have dominated European streets this season.

“We set out to capture the elegance of those curved, supple bags everyone’s talking about—then gave the form a lighter, more sustainable twist,” a mopak spokesperson said.

Key Details:

Material: Coffee-ground leather + ecoPU

Colour: Black

Weight: 0.35kg (≈40% lighter than many curved slings in the premium segment)

Capacity: 4L — fits phone, slim wallet, sunglasses, SPF stick & more

Dimensions: 40×14.5×19.5cm / 15.7×5.7×7.7in

Strap: Cloud-cushion rope, emerald braided, adjustable for shoulder or crossbody carry

Finish: Water-repellent, subtly aromatic thanks to coffee fibre

Price: US$89 (shipping not included)

While many curved crossbodies on the market weigh around 550g and rely on traditional calfskin, UrbanGlide’s coffee-based textile offers a softer hand-feel at a lighter load, without compromising structure.

Urban Glide

Designed for Europe's "CityWalk" Boom
Eurostat notes that 7 in 10 intra-EU summer travellers plan to explore destinations primarily on foot in 2025. UrbanGlide's 0.35kg profile and weather-ready finish address that shift, allowing travellers to transition from morning espresso runs in Milan to late-night metro rides in Berlin—without switching bags.

Availability

UrbanGlideCrossbody is available now exclusively in Black at <https://www.mopak.com> for US$89 (shipping fees apply).
