

Colipse Coffee Expands Its Swiss Water® Decaf Line with New Sizes and Grind Options

Chemical-free decaf gets major upgrade with four bag sizes, precision grinds, and bulk savings up to 40% per ounce

BOSTON, MA, UNITED STATES, July 27, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Colipse Coffee, a specialty coffee brand that has seen 200% growth in decaf coffee

Decaf is no longer just a side option. Our customers want the same richness and complexity they get from regular coffee so we revisited the roast and built a lineup that stands on its own.”

Michal Sieroslowski, founder of Colipse Coffee

sales over the past year, today announced a comprehensive expansion of its Swiss Water® Process decaf collection. The upgrade introduces four bag sizes, four grind options, and bulk pricing that saves customers up to 40% per ounce.

The decaf market is growing steadily as consumers increasingly prioritize sleep quality, anxiety management, and caffeine control for medical conditions. Pregnant women, medication users, and those with digestive sensitivities are driving demand for high-quality decaf that doesn't sacrifice taste. Unlike traditional chemical methods using methylene chloride or ethyl acetate, Colipse's Swiss Water® process removes 99.9% of caffeine using only water, temperature, and time – making it increasingly valuable to health-conscious consumers.

The numbers reflect this shift: the global decaffeinated coffee market reached $2.39 billion in 2024 and is projected to grow at 7.2% annually through 2035, significantly outpacing traditional coffee. The National Coffee Association reports 7% of Americans now consume decaf daily, with strongest growth among health-focused consumers aged 40 and over.

Product Expansion Details

Bag Sizes: Now offered in 12 oz, 16 oz, 2 lb, and 5 lb formats for all Colipse Swiss Water decaf coffees
