Celebrating a decade of collaboration, Red Education is recognized for global impact and record-breaking growth in Check Point cybersecurity training.

SAN CARLOS, CA, UNITED STATES, July 28, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Red Education has been recognized as the Check Point Software Technologies Platinum Elite ATC Partner of the Year for 2024, celebrating a decade of global collaboration and a year of record-breaking growth in cybersecurity certification training.

The award, announced this year by Check Point Software Technologies, acknowledges Red Education's role in delivering thousands of training days and supporting the certification of more than 110,000 Check Point professionals across the globe. As a Platinum Elite Authorized Training Centre (ATC), Red Education has worked closely with Check Point for over a decade to ensure their cybersecurity training remains rigorous, practical, and aligned to real-world needs.

Mike Baird, CEO Red Education, receiving the Platinum Elite ATC Partner of the Year award from Shay Solomon, Director, Global Business Development and Cybersecurity Education at Check Point Software Technologies

"This award is a tribute to the hard work of our trainers, the quality of our partnership with Check Point, and our shared goal of building a safer digital world," said Mike Baird, CEO of Red Education. "It's great recognition of what we've achieved together, and of what's still to come."

In 2024, Red Education and Check Point marked ten years of partnership. Throughout this time, Red Education has been directly involved in shaping course content, launching new training formats, and delivering programs to Check Point's own engineering teams. The partnership is also supporting long-term industry change, including Red Education's Women in Cybersecurity Training Scholarships, which provide entry-level Check Point training to aspiring professionals from underrepresented groups.

The award follows previous recognition from Check Point, including being named Authorised Training Company of the Year and holding Platinum Elite partner status since the designation was first introduced.

This award is a tribute to the hard work of our trainers, the quality of our partnership with Check Point, and our shared goal of building a safer digital world.”
