“

This partnership gives us the extra horsepower for projects that call for automation, AI, and cloud-native buildouts, while still letting us operate the way our clients know and trust.”

Scott Dunsire, CEO, Melillo Consulting

solution provider that helps organizations power their business through technology, has recently announced a strategic partnership with Motivus, a digital engineering firm known for its expertise in AI, data, and cloud. The partnership strengthens Melillo’s ability to modernize client environments, improve performance, and scale complex digital initiatives without piling on complexity or extra overhead.

Together, Melillo and Motivus offer customers:

- End-to-end delivery across critical IT functions: The partnership brings together AI, analytics, cybersecurity, infrastructure, and cloud engineering under one roof, offering full project execution from strategy through implementation.
- Tailored solutions that balance legacy and innovation: Clients benefit from proprietary tools, flexible architectures, and proven methods designed to integrate with existing systems while supporting modern transformation goals.
- Cross-industry experience with scalable execution: With expertise across healthcare, finance, manufacturing, retail, and more, the joint team is equipped to manage complex environments, large-scale rollouts, and long-term initiatives.

“Our clients are being asked to take on far more digitally complex work,” said Scott Dunsire, CEO, Melillo Consulting. “This partnership gives us the extra horsepower for projects that call for automation, AI, and cloud-native buildouts, while still letting us operate the way our clients know and trust.”

"We're thrilled to join forces with Melillo Consulting, a company that truly understands how to translate technology into business value," said Hari Haran, CEO of Motivus. "Mark Melillo, Scott Dunsire and their teams have spent over three decades perfecting the art of digital business acceleration across critical industries like healthcare, finance, and manufacturing. When you combine that deep sector expertise with our global scale and AI-driven transformation capabilities, you create something special—solutions that don't just modernize technology but fundamentally transform how our clients compete and grow in their markets."

As more organizations shift to hybrid environments and demand faster results from tech investments, the Melillo–Motivus partnership offers the tools and expertise to deliver on those requirements. The two firms share a commitment to practical innovation—helping clients modernize, streamline operations, and build a stronger foundation for future growth.
