Aloe Care's Advances in AI-Powered Medical Alert and Fall Prevention Cited as Keys to its Selection

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, July 29, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Aloe Care Health, creators of the world's most advanced medical alert and fall prevention system for eldercare, has been chosen as the exclusive, authorized partner for CorsoCare Personal Care. CorsoCare — offering home health, hospice, and personal care services — serves more older adults in Michigan than any other company and is rapidly expanding, with operations already established throughout Ohio and Indiana.

CorsoCare Personal Care Selects Aloe Care As Exclusive Medical Alert Service Provider

CorsoCare offers a comprehensive range of in-home services to support individuals as they age, recover, or manage complex health needs. From hospital-to-home transitions to everyday assistance, CorsoCare empowers people to live with independence, comfort, and peace of mind. Aloe Care will support all CorsoCare offices with around-the-clock remote care management.

We vetted numerous medical alert systems, and Aloe Care's advanced technologies were unequaled...their AI-powered fall detection and prevention represent the future of in-home care.”

Katherine Cadeau, President of CorsoCare Personal Care

They will have access to Aloe Care's proprietary, voice-activated Smart Hub 2 and the Mobile Companion 2 with fall detection. Add-ons to the company's flexible ecosystem include a care button, radar fall sensors, entry sensors, and motion sensors. The customizable system is supported by IoT peripherals, allowing it to easily adapt to new technologies. Examples include radar fall detection and the integration of the Withings Sleep Tracking Mat. In addition to its data-rich partner portal and AI-driven fall prediction and prevention, Aloe Care's Smart Triage with Emergency IQ™ ensures requests for assistance are routed to the right care team.

Remarked Katherine Cadeau, President of CorsoCare Personal Care: "We vetted numerous medical alert systems, and Aloe Care's advanced technologies were unequaled. Voice activation is one obvious differentiator, but their AI-powered fall detection and prevention represent the future of in-home care. What's more, the data they arm us with — everything ranging from movement patterns to environmental conditions — provides tremendous insight and support to our care teams, ensuring that we will continue to provide the superior care we are known for."

"CorsoCare is an optimal partner for Aloe Care," said Evan Schwartz, Co-Founder and CEO of Aloe Care Health. "Their tailor-made services necessitate a detailed understanding of every person in their care - something only we can provide with our unmatched data set. Our dashboard provides caregivers at-a-glance understanding of what is needed at every given moment. And of course, our emergency response protocols deliver the right level of care needed, resulting in better health outcomes and more efficient communication — a winning combination for all involved."

About 10,000 Americans turn 65 each day in a country that already has more than 55 million older adults, and more than 90% would prefer to age in their homes. With this growth, there is an even greater need for resources that promote safety and independence. Aloe Care and CorsoCare Home Care are using modern technology and data to uplift the experience of human caregiving and improve the quality of life overall.
