

Hudson Valley Artist Revives Traditional Cast Stone Craftsmanship With A Modern Twist

Stone Grove Statuary Brings Handcrafted Garden Statues to Modern Outdoor Spaces with USA-Made Cast Stone Designs

HUDSON VALLEY, NY, UNITED STATES, July 29, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- In New York's Hudson Valley, Stone Grove Statuary is reviving centuries-old cast stone craftsmanship. Founder and artist Aaron Kushner, along with his small team, hand-pours, finishes, and cures every piece in small batches to create statues and decorative concrete art that blend classical forms - meditative Buddhas, stately lions, and whimsical garden gnomes - with clean minimalist design.

A hand-poured cast-stone Buddha statue by Stone Grove Statuary, designed for year-round display in garden spaces.

Each statue is made from durable cast stone using time-honored techniques rarely seen in commercial décor, so pieces age gracefully with your space.

I wanted to create something that feels enduring - not mass-produced but made to live and age with your space. There's a history and warmth in cast stone that plastic and resin can't replicate.”

With growing demand for artisan-made home and garden décor, Stone Grove's approach offers a counterpoint to mass market decor. Homeowners, designers, and boutique retailers appreciate the quality and intention behind every piece.

-USA-made production from their Hudson Valley studio

- Durable, weather-resistant materials for year-round display
- Limited monthly inventory to ensure quality and exclusivity

-Classic charm balanced with modern simplicity
