The partnership enables a unified candidate evaluation process, helping recruiters reduce delays, improve decision-making, and accelerate onboarding. By combining Jobma's powerful AI interviews and Reveal's smart verification tools, hiring teams can automate key steps in the recruitment process and conduct global background checks more efficiently.

Reveal Background allows users to run secure background checks and verify identities. Whether it's screening for employment history, criminal records, or education credentials, Reveal Background supports international screening to ensure compliance with regional frameworks. Reveal delivers fast and accurate information to help employers navigate cross-border hiring with greater confidence.

"By combining our structured interviews with powerful background screening, we're creating a seamless assessment experience, delivering the clarity and context modern hiring teams need," said Krishna Kant, Managing Partner at Jobma.

This integration partnership enables hiring teams to:

- Conduct structured interviews and initiate background checks within one unified platform.
- Automate early-stage screening and pre-employment checks.
- Evaluate talent with objective AI insights and background screening data for a confident, data-driven hiring decision.

The integration is now available for all Jobma and Reveal Background users.
