

Family Scholar House, MMY US Ribbon Cutting for First Cold-Form Steel, Modular, Volumetric, LEED Platinum Home in US.

Ribbon cutting at 11:30 AM Tuesday, August 5, at 913 South 42nd Street, Louisville, KY for the first single-family home developed by Family Scholar House.

LOUISVILLE, KY, UNITED STATES, August 4, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- At 11:30 AM on Tuesday, August 5, at 913 South 42nd Street, Louisville, KY, Family Scholar House and MMY US will host a ribbon cutting ceremony for the first single-family home developed by Family Scholar House. Speakers will include Louisville Mayor Craig Greenburg and Family Scholar House CEO Cathe Dykstra.

This is also the very first cold-form steel, modular, volumetric home to achieve LEED Platinum certification in the United States, and was manufactured in Louisville by MMY US. This innovative home and others like it will be an affordable housing option for families earning 80% of the Area Median Income (AMI).

Following the speakers, tours of the new LEED Platinum home will be available, providing attendees with an opportunity to witness firsthand the innovative design and sustainable features of this pioneering project.

This event aims to bring together community leaders, stakeholders, and residents to celebrate a project that embodies the future of construction, sustainability, and social responsibility.
