R3 Stem Cell has been awarded the Global Regenerative Medicine Company of the Year for 2025 by International Elite for the fourth year in a row.

SCOTTSDALE, ARIZONA, UNITED STATES, August 4, 2025

/EINPresswire.com/ -- R3 Stem Cell has been awarded the Global Regenerative Medicine Company of the Year for 2025 by International Elite. This is the fourth year in a row that R3 Stem Cell has won the Award.

With over 70 Centers of Excellence in 7 countries, R3 Stem Cell has continuously been at the forefront of regenerative medicine. Over 26,000 stem cell procedures have been performed in the past decade, with an 85% patient satisfaction rate. With over twenty customized protocols in place, R3 provides innovative treatments for many conditions.

According to R3 Stem Cell CEO David Greene, MD, PhD, MBA, "The goal since inception has been to provide the highest quality stem cell treatment that incorporates the utmost quality control for safety while being the most affordable in the world. The continuous award from International Elite is a huge stamp of approval that our mission is working and patients are benefiting from these innovative, revolutionary therapies!”

The International Elite awards recognize excellence, innovation, and leadership on an international scale, celebrating individuals and organizations that drive progress in their respective fields. R3’s research team has published eight peer reviewed articles in the past few years, highlighting outcomes for many difficult conditions with regenerative biologics.
