

EMS World Expo Accelerates into Indianapolis with IndyCar Medical Director as Keynote Speaker

Dr. Julia Vaizer to headline 2025 event, expected to draw 6000+ attendees to the Indiana Convention Center.

MALVERN, PA, UNITED STATES, August 6, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The adrenaline of the racetrack will meet the urgency of emergency response this fall when Dr. Julia Vaizer, Medical Director for IndyCar and the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, delivers keynote remarks at the EMS World Expo 2025 — the premier global conference for emergency medical services (EMS) professionals. Taking place October 20-24 at the Indiana Convention Center, the event makes its debut in Indianapolis, drawing more than 6,000 EMS professionals for five days of cutting-edge education, hands-on training, and industry innovation.

Taking place October 20-24 at the Indiana Convention Center, the event makes its debut in Indianapolis, drawing more than 6,000 EMS professionals for five days of cutting-edge education, hands-on training, and industry innovation.

Who is Dr. Julia Vaizer?

Julia Vaizer, MD, MPH, FACEP, oversees medical operations for both the Indianapolis Motor Speedway and the national IndyCar racing series. She leads the EMS response at the Indianapolis 500, the world's largest single-day sporting event, with more than 350,000 spectators, coordinating a fleet of 50 ambulances and hundreds of EMS staff.

Vaizer also directs air-medical operations for IU Health and works nationally with Global Medical Response. Her keynote presentation will provide a behind-the-scenes look at:

- Driver safety and extrication
- Mass gathering planning (including incidents like a terror attack) and multi-agency coordination

- Emergency operations and elements of modern-day EMS
- Relevant information appealing to all levels of EMS providers

“Dr. Vaizer’s keynote about IndyCar and the Indianapolis Motor Speedway will deliver behind-the-scenes insights from some of America’s largest and most exciting sporting events,” said Josh Hartman, MBA, NRP, Senior Vice President, CardioVascular and Emergency & Mobile Medicine, HMP Global. “She is a strong advocate for track safety. Her keynote will bring both operational depth and local relevance to the greater EMS community.”
