

Chrysalis Autism Center Receives Accreditation from Autism Commission on Quality (ACQ)

LOUISVILLE, KY, UNITED STATES, August 8, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Autism Commission on Quality (ACQ) has awarded a full two-year accreditation to Chrysalis Autism Center for its applied behavior analysis (ABA) program in South Carolina.

This newly accredited organization offers ABA healthcare services to individuals and families impacted by autism. Its program was evaluated against ACQ's Applied Behavior Analysis Accreditation Program Standards and Guide.

"Accreditation is not just about compliance; it's about fostering a culture of continuous learning, improvement, and adaptability to meet the evolving needs and expectations of our clients," said Kelly Edinger, clinical director of Chrysalis Autism Center. "We view our accreditation as a promise to our stakeholders, a promise that we will uphold the highest standards of quality, integrity, and professionalism in all our endeavors."

with autism in a nurturing, play-based environment. Specializing in early intensive behavioral intervention (EIBI), Chrysalis focuses on building foundational skills through individualized treatment, collaborative family support, and a strong commitment to evidence-based practices. The center is dedicated to helping children grow, learn, and reach their full potential.

"People with autism deserve high-quality ABA services," said Erick Dubuque, director of ACQ.

"Organizations applying for accreditation from the Autism Commission on Quality must meet rigorous standards for patient care, administration, and transparency. Chrysalis Autism Center underwent a thorough review process to earn its accreditation."

ACQ's review process includes a wide range of business, clinical, and quality improvement activities to promote best practices and evidence-based pathways. The assessment considers clinical observations and satisfaction surveys from patients and staff, leadership interviews, and a desktop review.

ACQ continues to accept new applications for its two-year accreditation from organizations offering ABA as a healthcare service to individuals with autism.

About Autism Commission on Quality (ACQ)

The Autism Commission on Quality (ACQ) is a non-profit accreditation agency that recognizes applied behavior analysis organizations serving individuals and families impacted by autism. ACQ's mission is to continuously improve the impact of applied behavior analysis services for the autism community through education and accreditation of provider organizations.

ACQ is a single-member LLC of the Council of Autism Service Providers (CASP), a known and trusted nonprofit trade association for organizations serving individuals with autism. ACQ receives financial and in-kind support from CASP but maintains firewalls that protect the integrity of its essential accreditation activities. Our vision is for all recipients of applied behavior analysis services to reach their full potential through access to organizations offering the highest level of care.
