today announced the successful integration of LendSaaS, a leading MCA deal management and funding platform, through its partnership with VitalCap, a premier originator in the industry.

This integration represents a major milestone in Receivabull's mission to bring transparency,

By connecting our deal flow directly to Receivabull's liquidity network, we gain the ability to fund more merchants without the capital bottlenecks that have historically limited growth."

speed, and efficiency to the revenue-based funding market by enabling originators to seamlessly sell receivables into Receivabull's liquidity pool. LendSaaS is the first MCA platform to be integrated, paving the way for real-time data synchronization between funding systems and Receivabull's infrastructure. This allows funders to instantly identify eligible deals, price risk, and syndicate receivables without friction.

"Our partnership with Receivabull and the integration of LendSaaS marks a significant step forward for the industry," said Lawrence Khatskelevich, Managing Partner at VitalCap. "By connecting our deal flow directly to Receivabull's liquidity network, we gain the ability to fund more merchants without the capital bottlenecks that have historically limited growth."

"LendSaaS was built to streamline origination and servicing for MCA funders, and this integration with Receivabull takes that vision further," said Joshua Carcione, Founder of LendSaaS. "Together, we're enabling a future where liquidity is instant, data flows seamlessly, and funders can scale more efficiently than ever before."

In addition to API-based integrations with platforms like LendSaaS, Receivabull supports multiple data ingestion methods, including secure FTP uploads (manual or automated) and custom API builds for unique workflows. The company is actively working on additional integrations with other leading MCA management systems to expand compatibility and further streamline liquidity access.
