

Music Teacher Guild Launches Founding Board Recruitment to Shape the Future of Music Education

Join the Music Teacher Guild's inaugural board to guide growth, innovation, and equity in music teacher development across the globe.

FRUITA, CO (VIRTUAL HEADQUARTERS), CO, UNITED STATES, August 12, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Music Teacher Guild (MTG), an online professional learning platform for music educators, is now accepting applications for its inaugural Board of Directors. This is a unique opportunity for mission-aligned leaders to help shape the vision, direction, and global impact of a growing nonprofit dedicated to supporting music teachers at every stage of their careers. The Guild is already off to a strong start with a social media group boasting 45,000+ members.

The Music Teacher Guild supports the important role of music teachers in society by offering mentorship, online courses, and community.

Founded in 2024, MTG bridges the gap between academic training and real-world teaching. Through mentorship, workshops, community forums, and online courses, the organization equips music educators with practical tools and support to thrive. Its mission is: Through mentorship, education, and unwavering support, we ensure every music teacher has the tools to ignite their students' potential and create lasting musical impact.

The Guild is seeking board members with experience in music education, arts administration, nonprofit leadership, instructional design, educational technology, diversity and inclusion, fundraising, law, or entrepreneurship. Candidates do not need to be music teachers but must share a commitment to equitable access and teacher development.

“Music educators shape the cultural heartbeat of our communities, yet too often they lack the support and resources they need to develop sustainable careers,” said Elisa Janson Jones, Founding Executive Director of the Music Teacher Guild. “By joining our founding board, leaders have the chance to help build an organization that empowers teachers, strengthens programs, and ensures that music education remains vibrant for generations to come.”

Board members will participate in quarterly virtual meetings, serve on committees, and contribute to strategy, fundraising, and advocacy. This volunteer governance role requires an estimated commitment of two to four hours per month.

Music educators shape our cultural heartbeat, yet too often lack support. Our founding board will help build lasting, global solutions.”

Elisa Janson Jones

Applications are being accepted on a rolling basis, with priority consideration for those submitted by September 30, 2025. To learn more and apply, visit <https://www.musicteacherguild.org/board-application>.
