Tackling an Industry-Wide Challenge:

Our AI invoice scanning feature transforms hospitality stock control by cutting costs, saving time, and giving operators total real-time oversight.”

Manual invoice entry has long been a pain point for hospitality operators. In an industry where profit margins are under constant pressure, inefficient back-office processes can erode profitability.

The new Stocktake Online feature uses machine learning in hospitality operations to automatically extract key data from uploaded invoices such as line items, quantities, prices, and suppliers whether uploaded via mobile or desktop. This information is then synced directly into stock records, supporting real-time inventory tracking and reducing administrative workload.

Key Benefits of AI Invoice Scanning :

The feature enables faster processing by allowing users to upload images or scans from any device, with automated data capture that extracts invoice details such as items, quantities, and prices with high accuracy. A built-in confidence scoring system flags low-confidence scans for review, while multi-site oversight capabilities consolidate data across multiple venues. Additionally, the tool supports compliance by facilitating allergen tracking and cost audits, ensuring both operational efficiency and regulatory adherence.

This launch is part of Stocktake Online's mission to offer end-to-end food and beverage inventory software that tackles the sector's operational and financial challenges. The platform delivers a full suite of services, including waste and variance reporting to identify and address losses, menu and recipe costing for precise pricing strategies, automated purchase order creation to streamline procurement, and supplier management with seamless restaurant ordering system integration. Operators can explore pricing plans tailored to both single-site independents and multi-location groups, or request a free demo to experience the system in action.

Expanding Global Reach:

While firmly established as a market leader in the UK and Ireland, Stocktake Online is also expanding into GCC markets, supporting cloud kitchen inventory management in Riyadh, Dubai, and Doha. The platform's adaptability makes it a strong choice for operators worldwide, from boutique hotels to large-scale catering companies in Canada, New Zealand, and beyond.

"Our customers operate in one of the most competitive and fast-moving industries in the world," said a Stocktake Online spokesperson. "This new feature reflects our commitment to delivering tools that simplify processes, improve accuracy, and enable better decision-making. Whether in London, Dubai, or Toronto, the challenges are similar and our platform is built to solve them."
