Located at 5101 Gaillardia Corporate Place, A-1 Oklahoma City, OK, the school provides a unique learning environment that combines classroom instruction with hands-on training in a real-world medical setting. This immersive approach ensures students gain practical experience and develop the confidence to succeed in their chosen profession.

"We are thrilled to bring this vital training program to the Oklahoma City community," says Holly Capuano, Oklahoma City Medical Assistant School Program Manager. "The demand for skilled medical assistants is rapidly growing, and our program provides a direct pathway for individuals to enter this rewarding field while making a meaningful contribution to healthcare."

The program teaches foundational skills in key medical assistant responsibilities, including anatomy and physiology, medical terminology, pharmacology, phlebotomy, EKG, and patient care. Our medical assistant courses also include hands-on training, providing students with valuable clinical skills capped by an 80-hour externship to apply learned skills under the guidance of experienced medical professionals.

Oklahoma City Medical Assistant School empowers aspiring healthcare professionals with a fast-track, affordable path to a rewarding career. The 18-week program emphasizes hands-on learning, allowing students to gain practical experience through onsite labs at a local healthcare partner clinic. This valuable experience, combined with an 80-hour externship under the guidance of seasoned medical professionals, prepares graduates for real-world success.

Oklahoma City Medical Assistant School is committed to making quality healthcare education accessible to all. The school offers flexible payment plans, including the option to pay in full or choose from a variety of affordable options. Students can also work with the school to create a personalized payment plan that aligns with their individual financial needs, making it possible to graduate debt-free and save significantly compared to traditional training programs.

“Opening a medical assistant school in Oklahoma City aligns with our commitment to make career-focused education more accessible,” said Chris Lofton, chief executive officer at Zollege. “We’re proud to support local students as they gain the skills and confidence to enter a fast-growing and essential profession.”

Once students complete their certification through Oklahoma City Medical Assistant School, they’re eligible to find employment in a variety of outpatient, clinical, hospital, or research facilities within their community.

About GameDay Men's Health

Founded by behavioral health specialist Evan Miller, Ph.D., Gameday Men's Health was born out of a deeply personal experience with low testosterone—and the frustration of navigating cold, impersonal, or even dubious clinical environments. Driven by the desire to create a space where the “average guy” feels genuinely at ease, Evan envisioned a clinic with friendly, knowledgeable staff, sports playing on flat-screen TVs, and fast, streamlined appointments.

From premium testosterone replacement therapy to discreet, stigma-free ED solutions, every aspect of Gameday is designed to be fast, relaxing, and results-oriented. Here, men rediscover energy, confidence, and purpose—day in and day out.

About Zollege

Founded in 2010 by Dr. Ince, Zollege was established to address the need for well-trained medical and dental assistants. Since then, Zollege has expanded to operate 140 campuses nationwide in partnership with local doctors and healthcare professionals. Each year, Zollege helps thousands of students graduate debt-free and embark on successful careers in the medical and dental industries.
