This recognition highlights Smith's strong progress in advancing environmental, social, and ethical practices throughout its global operations and broader supply chain. Smith improved upon its 2024 scores across all four EcoVadis key focus areas: Environment, Labor and Human Rights, Ethics, and Sustainable Procurement. The company focused on enhancing environmental efficiency across its business operations, improving social stewardship within its supply chain, and developing more robust internal-governance processes.

Multiple cross-departmental teams collaborated to prepare, develop, and conduct the comprehensive assessment of Smith's sustainability performance. With excellent sustainability practices swiftly becoming a requirement to fully meet the needs and expectations of the rapidly evolving tech industry, Smith has taken these steps to expand its role as a responsible distribution partner to customers worldwide.

The company achieved a 19-point increase in its overall rating, placing Smith in the 78th percentile among its industry peers. The results helped clarify internal processes and accountability structures across departments, which will continue to support ongoing sustainability efforts throughout the company. This promising feedback from EcoVadis provides a clear path forward for Smith to develop roadmaps for sustainability integration across the business.

“We are incredibly proud of the work we’ve done to improve our sustainability practices in recent years and are honored to receive this recognition from EcoVadis,” said Mark Bollinger, Chief Administrative Officer at Smith. “As we continue our growth in this area, we aim to build upon our reputation as a trusted partner and further incorporate our customers’ ESG goals into our long-term business strategy.”

Looking ahead, Smith is devoting additional resources to achieve more rigorous sustainability data collection, comprehensive emissions tracking, and the development of both internal and external accountability toward its sustainability efforts. The company will also continue embedding sustainability-related criteria into its internal strategic planning, employee learning and development programs, and overall governance framework.
