

Summer Worship Nights and TPR. End with Record-Breaking Sellouts, Welcoming Over 200,000 Attendees

NASHVILLE, TN, UNITED STATES, August 22, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- More than 200,000 voices joined together in worship this summer as Phil Wickham and Brandon Lake's Summer Worship Nights Tour closed its third year with a historic, completely sold-out run. Joined by breakout artist Josiah Queen, the tour packed arenas and stadiums coast-to-coast, marking a new high point for one of Christian music's most powerful live experiences.

Summer Worship Nights 2025 Sold Out

Stops included Hersheypark Stadium in Hershey, PA (over 30,000 attendees) and two sold-out nights at Dallas' American Airlines Center (over 33,000 combined), before closing at Los Angeles' BMO Stadium. Each night brought together thousands for moments of worship, ministry, and community.

The tour's presenting sponsor, World Vision, saw record-breaking impact, reaching more than 55,000 children around the world — an unprecedented reaction from attendees.

Lake and Wickham have kept their momentum going outside of touring as well with Lake's latest album King of Hearts, released June 13, earning critical acclaim, with "Hard Fought Hallelujah" (featuring Jelly Roll) now platinum and Wickham's Song of the Saints arriving September 12, led by the single "What An Awesome God," currently #1 on four radio charts.

Both Wickham and Lake have a busy few months ahead of them. Wickham will headline the Air1 Worship Now Tour this October alongside Charity Gayle, Josh Baldwin, and Benjamin William Hastings.

Lake will launch his King of Hearts Tour this fall, running through Spring 2026 and ending with two hometown stadium shows in Charleston, SC. Franni Cash (Fall only) and Pat Barrett will join as special guests.
