further—offering franchise owners a system that allows them to start small, even with just one van, and quickly scale into a multi-vehicle fleet within their first or second year.”

The Semi-Absentee Advantage:

Wings Mobile Detailing has engineered its franchise model to appeal not only to full-time entrepreneurs but also to semi-absentee owners—those who want to run a thriving business while maintaining flexibility in their lifestyle.

Thanks to streamlined operations, proven marketing strategies, and an advanced training system, franchisees can manage and grow their locations without needing to be involved in every detail of day-to-day operations. Wings’ technology-driven approach ensures that scheduling, client management, and team training can all be effectively handled even when the owner is not physically present.

“Many of our franchisees are investors or busy professionals who wanted a scalable business without having to leave their careers,” said Roger Rolw - Franchise Development. “With Wings Academy, we’re making it possible for these owners to expand confidently, knowing their staff is trained, their operations are supported, and their clients are receiving the high-quality service Wings is known for.”

□Wings Academy: Training for Growth

The newly launched Wings Academy is the cornerstone of the company’s franchise expansion strategy. This proprietary training technology provides franchise owners and their teams with:

□Step-by-Step Onboarding: Everything from van setup to service techniques is covered.

□Staff Development Modules: Team members can be trained quickly and effectively, reducing the owner’s workload.

□Operational Playbooks: Franchisees receive proven systems for customer service, marketing, scheduling, and scaling.

Growth Roadmaps: Clear guidance on when and how to expand from a single van to a fleet, helping owners build a multi-unit operation faster than traditional franchises.

By blending hands-on experience with digital tools, Wings Academy empowers franchise owners to replicate the company’s success in markets nationwide.

□□From One Van to a Fleet—Fast□□

Unlike traditional franchise models that require high overhead and slow scaling, Wings Mobile

Detailing makes it possible to start lean and grow aggressively. Many franchise owners begin with a single van and, through training and support, add multiple vehicles within the first 12-24 months.

This phased approach reduces financial risk for new owners while keeping the door open to significant growth. With national marketing, operational support, and cutting-edge training behind them, Wings franchisees are well-positioned to dominate their local markets.

□A Bright Future Ahead

As Wings Mobile Detailing looks toward 2026, the company sees explosive potential for expansion. The demand for mobile services continues to rise as consumers prioritize convenience, time savings, and eco-friendly solutions. Wings is uniquely positioned to capitalize on these trends, offering high-quality detailing at clients' homes, offices, or anywhere on the go.

"2026 is shaping up to be a landmark year for Wings Mobile Detailing," said Andre.
