The original 33" x 83.5" Reveal retractable banner has been a customer favorite for years. Building on its success, the line now includes two tabletop models (8.5" x 11" and 11" x 17") and two larger formats (39" and 47"), offering versatile banner display options for both small and large events.

The tabletop banners are ideal for college fairs, recruiting events, and other spaces where a portable display is needed. The larger banners provide businesses and organizations the ability to make a bold statement at trade shows, conferences, and other professional gatherings, ensuring their brand stands out.

"Adding new sizes to the Reveal banner line gives our customers the flexibility to create impactful displays at any event," said Molly Engle, Director of Product & Inventory Management at Displayit.

Whether it's a tabletop banner for an intimate event or a large-format retractable banner for a trade show, the Reveal line delivers high-quality graphics, easy setup, and professional results.
