LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, August 25, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Classic T-Shirt Company is redefining American-made t-shirts and classic American clothing with a commitment to craftsmanship, local manufacturing, and family values. Every garment is made in Los Angeles from GOTS-certified organic cotton, inspired by the Southern California lifestyle, and crafted to deliver unmatched softness and lasting quality.

"We're not just making t-shirts — we're restoring the pride and discipline that once defined American manufacturing," said Olga Garibian, co-founder of The Classic T-Shirt Company.

"Every shirt we produce reflects the values we live by: hard work, integrity, and doing things the right way."

The company's model is built on five core pillars:

- Made in the USA – All garments are produced in Los Angeles, supporting regional jobs and allowing full visibility into every stage of production.
- GOTS-Certified Organic Cotton – Cotton is grown without GMOs or harmful chemicals, with strict environmental and social standards applied across the supply chain.

Care Built to Last

To help customers extend the life of their garments, The Classic T-Shirt Company provides a detailed care guide, recommending cold-water washing, gentle detergents, air drying, and proper storage. These steps help maintain softness, shape, and color — especially for garments made with untreated organic fibers.

Transparency and Trust

Through its online transparency portal, the company publishes documentation on sourcing, factory affiliations, and labor audits. This open-book approach fosters informed decision-making and reinforces the brand's commitment to traceability and accountability.

A Response to Industry Shifts

With growing consumer demand for higher-quality, longer-lasting apparel, The Classic T-Shirt Company stands as an alternative to fast fashion — offering fewer styles, greater longevity, and a values-driven approach to clothing.
