The grant is open to undergraduate students currently enrolled in healthcare-related fields, including nursing, medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, and allied health professions. Applicants are asked to demonstrate a clear vision for their future in healthcare and a commitment to serving their communities.

As part of the application process, students must submit an original essay addressing the prompt: "Reflect on a personal experience or moment that inspired your desire to pursue a career in healthcare. Discuss how this experience shaped your values and approach to patient care, and how you plan to utilize your education and skills to make a meaningful difference in the lives of others."

The application deadline is September 15, 2025, and the selected recipient will be announced on October 15, 2025. One student will be awarded funding to further support their undergraduate studies.

Dr. Wade Newman, founder of Eagle Valley Family Dentistry in Milesburg, Pennsylvania, has built a career defined by clinical excellence, humanitarian service, and a steadfast commitment to the values of integrity and leadership. With over two decades of service in the United States Air National Guard, and extensive involvement in dental outreach programs both domestically and internationally, Dr. Wade Newman continues to demonstrate his dedication to advancing healthcare access.

“The grant reflects my belief in supporting students who are passionate about improving patient care,” said Dr. Wade Newman. “These future professionals represent the heart of healthcare, and my hope is that this opportunity encourages them to continue pursuing their vision.”

Through the Dr. Wade Newman Grant for Healthcare Students, Dr. Wade Newman aims to inspire a new generation of healthcare professionals who will prioritize compassion, skill, and service in their future careers.
