"Schools worldwide are seeking cost-effective ways to expand their course catalogs, address staffing challenges, and give students learning opportunities they wouldn't otherwise have," said Carol DeFuria, President & CEO of VHS Learning. "By partnering with VHS Learning, these schools can provide their students with turnkey access to rigorous, teacher-led online courses that help them not only earn credits toward high school graduation, but also prepare them for success in college, careers, and beyond.”

With 30 years of expertise in online learning for high school students, VHS Learning pairs rigorous curriculum with experienced instructors who bring depth and passion to their subjects. Courses are designed not only to prepare students for college and careers, but also to help them build essential skills such as problem solving, critical thinking, collaboration, time management, and communication. By working with high school certified teachers and peers from around the world, students gain both academic knowledge and lifelong learning habits that set them up for future success.

“We are proud to welcome these schools into the VHS Learning community,” added DeFuria. “Every new partnership represents students gaining access to new opportunities. Whether it’s increased access to advanced STEM courses, world language offerings, or unique and engaging electives, our goal is to expand educational choices for students everywhere and inspire a lifelong love of learning.”
