

iBoost Talent Introduces Leadership Team Driving Franchisee-First Growth Model

Meet the iBoost Talent franchisee-first leadership team driving franchise success with expert support, strategy, and operational experience.

ATLANTA, GA, UNITED STATES, August 28, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- iBoost Talent, a next-generation staffing franchise company, today announced the official introduction of its executive leadership team. The team brings more than a century of combined experience across staffing, franchising, operations, and workforce technology, and is central to the company's mission of enabling franchise success through expert guidance and long-term partnership.

Leadership Team Overview

True innovation comes from the field, not from corporate boardrooms.”

Don G. King

Don G. King, Founder – A veteran of the staffing industry and founder of Impact Workforce Solutions, King is the architect of iBoost Talent’s franchisee-first model. His career reflects a long-standing commitment to supporting business owners with tools, systems, and strategic guidance that foster long-term success.

MacKenzie Potter, President – Potter brings operational leadership and a track record of technology innovation, having played a key role in launching proprietary platforms such as Clarity VMS. She oversees day-to-day franchise operations and ensures iBoost Talent remains responsive to evolving market needs.

Vance Tiller, Developer – With a background that spans frontline operations to executive leadership, Tiller has helped scale staffing operations from $32 million to $98 million in annual revenue. He supports franchisees in strategic planning, performance optimization, and client retention.

Bill Tasillo, Executive Vice President, Franchise Development – With more than five decades in the staffing and franchising sectors, Tasillo leads franchise development and financial strategy. His role includes onboarding, expansion planning, and consultative support tailored to both new and experienced franchisees.

“Franchise success in today’s staffing industry requires more than ambition — it requires leadership, support, and proven systems,” said King. “We’ve built a team with deep expertise and a shared commitment to franchisee growth.”

The iBoost Talent leadership team delivers hands-on support across every phase of franchise development — from market entry and systems onboarding to territory expansion and operational optimization. The company’s franchise model is structured to eliminate traditional barriers to entry, offering low startup costs, flexible operations, and multiple revenue streams.

“Each member of this team has worked at every level of the staffing business,” said Potter. “Their direct involvement is what enables iBoost Talent to offer an exceptional level of support and strategic depth to franchise owners.”
