

Woven 2 SAVE: New Initiative by Kurriizma and SAVE Debuts at NYFW

Woven 2 SAVE honors those lost to suicide through sustainable fashion to ignite a national movement for prevention and mental health awareness

BROOKLYN, NY, UNITED STATES, August 27, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Kurriizma and SAVE (Suicide Awareness Voices of Education) are proud to amplify Woven 2 SAVE, a groundbreaking initiative bridging the worlds of fashion and mental health. The initiative will have its New York Fashion Week debut with a tactile garment-making workshop followed by the Woven 2 SAVE Designer Panel, spotlighting how creativity and advocacy can come together to inspire change.

Event Details (September 13):

- WHAT: Woven 2 SAVE Designer Panel & Garment-Making Workshop
- WHO: Kurriizma in collaboration with SAVE
- WHEN: September 13, 2025 — Workshop: 5–7 PM | Panel: 6–7 PM
- WHERE: Vers Brooklyn, 1329 Willoughby Ave, Brooklyn, NY 11237

The Woven 2 SAVE Designer Panel will bring together diverse voices in fashion to address how designers navigate the pressures of sustaining their craft, balancing cultural and economic realities, and prioritizing mental health and wellbeing.

“Fashion is not just about the garments we wear—it is about the lived experiences, resilience, and identities stitched into them,” said Kurriizma, founder and creative director of Kurriizmatic. “Through Woven 2 SAVE, we are creating a space where mental health is part of the fashion conversation—where artists and designers can be heard, supported, and valued for more than just aesthetics.”

SAVE, one of the nation’s leading suicide prevention organizations, sees this partnership as an important step toward reaching new communities.

“By joining with Kurriizma, we’re showing that suicide prevention and mental health belong in every cultural arena, including fashion,” said Erich Mische, CEO of SAVE. “Woven 2 SAVE brings creativity and advocacy together to shine a light on resilience and hope.”
