WOODLAND HILLS, CA, UNITED STATES, August 28, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Occupational Health & Safety (OH&S), providing worker safety-triad insights since 1932, brought to you by Converge360, a division of 1105 Media, is proud to announce the winners of the 2025 New Product of the Year Awards.

This year, 30 outstanding products across 36 categories are being recognized for their exceptional innovations—solutions that not only advance workplace safety but also reinforce the critical mission of protecting workers.

"We had a terrific mix of products that were real game changers merited awards this year," said OH&S Publisher and Executive Editor David Kopf. "One of the remarkable things to see was how far AI tools had progressed in the 12 months since our last contest. There are some truly life-saving applications of AI and other technologies that were submitted and that won. There's no denying that applications of AI and related technologies are going to change the worker health and safety landscape."

All winning products will receive editorial coverage in the November/December 2025 issue of Occupational Health & Safety magazine and will be recognized on ohonline.com and in the 2025 New Product of the Year Awards winners marketing and promotions.
