

Luxury Haven Rentals Spotlighted in Pluto TV's 'Staycation' Travel Series

Luxury Haven Rentals, a high-end vacation home provider specializing in exclusive beachfront properties in California

MANHATTAN BEACH, CA, UNITED STATES, September 1, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Luxury Haven Rentals, a high-end vacation home provider specializing in exclusive beachfront properties in California, has been prominently featured in the travel-lifestyle docuseries Staycation, currently streaming on Pluto TV. The feature highlights one of the company's most sought-after locations — its Manhattan Beach property — and sheds light on the evolving landscape of luxury beachfront homes in the United States.

As part of the Staycation series, the episode offers a close-up of how vacationers can now enjoy upscale, home-like comfort just steps from the beach. The program gives viewers an inside look at Luxury Haven Rentals' four-bedroom coastal home — a space designed to mirror the elegance of a five-star retreat, with views of the Pacific and the warmth of a California beach lifestyle.

A Real View into Luxury Living

Luxury Haven Rentals' inclusion in the series reflects the broader interest in alternative accommodations that combine both privacy and indulgence. The property, set in Manhattan

Beach, has become a preferred choice for guests looking for more than a hotel room. With an ocean-view balcony and a spacious open-plan kitchen, the home captures a balance between relaxation and upscale living.

“Being part of the Staycation series is a milestone moment,” said Michelle, property manager at Luxury Haven Rentals. “It’s an opportunity to showcase not only the beauty of our property but the care and detail we bring to each guest’s experience — all in one of the most iconic beach locations in California.”

Why This Property Stands Out

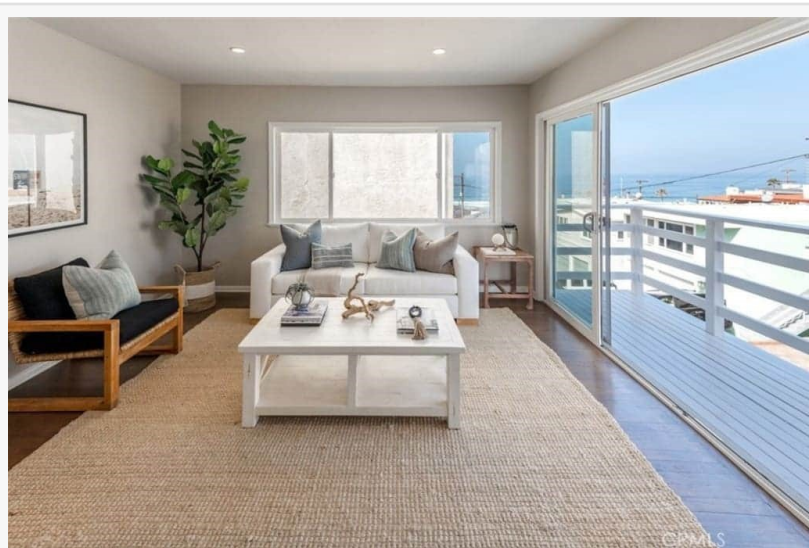

This Manhattan Beach residence offers thoughtfully designed spaces for families, couples, and groups seeking both adventure and rest. Designed with both leisure and connection in mind, it allows for an immersive stay that doesn’t compromise on style or convenience. Smart home integration, ample gathering areas, and proximity to Los Angeles landmarks make this property distinct within the market for house rentals in Manhattan Beach.

The property's appearance on Staycation has not only placed it on a national platform but also underscored a growing traveler interest in experiential stays. For many high-end travelers, staying at a luxury home provides a sense of belonging — a place to make memories, not just spend nights.

Bringing Hospitality into the Home

Luxury Haven Rentals focuses on offering more than a place to stay. With every booking, guests are welcomed into an experience designed to reflect the lifestyle of the area. From surfboards and bikes available on-site to family-friendly amenities like cribs and entertainment lounges, the company's offerings cater to both relaxation seekers and activity lovers alike.

“Guests aren’t just renting a space; they’re stepping into a lifestyle,” explained a guest services team member. “Whether it’s cooking together in the chef-grade kitchen, enjoying sunsets on the
