

EstateOps Launches to Transform UK Estate & Letting Agencies with AI-Powered Automation

New consultancy helps agents cut admin, capture more leads, and scale operations with smart automation.

BRISTOL, UNITED KINGDOM, September 1, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- EstateOps, a new EstateOps gives estate agents back their most valuable asset—time. By automating repetitive tasks and communications, we free teams to focus on service, sales, and scaling their business.”

Tom Moore, Founder of Adept Workflow

packaged automation and CRM consultancy, has officially launched to help UK estate and letting agencies tackle one of their biggest challenges: wasted time on repetitive admin and poor lead follow-up.

Designed exclusively for property professionals, EstateOps empowers agencies to streamline day-to-day operations, improve client service, and unlock growth with AI-driven efficiency.

Across the UK, agencies with teams of 3–50 staff are under pressure to deliver consistent client service while managing a flood of enquiries and regulatory obligations.

Many are still relying on outdated systems, manual spreadsheets, and staff-intensive processes. EstateOps solves these issues by implementing tailored automation bundles that integrate seamlessly into existing CRMs and workflows.

The EstateOps package includes:

- Automated lead capture and nurturing to prevent missed opportunities.
- Streamlined onboarding and admin to reduce wasted staff time.
- Dashboards and reporting that give managers real-time oversight.
- Fully automated inbox management that delivers on-brand, high-quality communication at scale.
- Smart scheduling and publishing of social media posts to boost visibility without adding to staff workload.

Looking ahead, EstateOps is also developing EstateOps Academy, a training and adoption platform that will help agency staff get the most from AI and automation tools, while generating ongoing value. The company is further investing in a SaaS insights dashboard to provide AI-powered analytics, and has plans to expand horizontally into other property ecosystem services such as recruitment, mortgage broking, and legal workflows.

With this combined approach—automation delivery, staff training, and future SaaS tools—EstateOps is positioning itself as the go-to AI partner for the UK property sector.
