

Maincard.io and One2all.tv Announce Strategic Partnership to Enhance Interactive Sports Streaming

LISBON, PORTUGAL, September 2, 2025

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Maincard.io, a No-Code

platform for launching iGaming brands in under 30 minutes, has joined forces with One2all.tv to offer something no other platform currently does: the ability for users to watch, interact, and bet together in real time.

We've built a tech layer that makes watching feel like hanging out - stakes. You can see, hear, and engage with others while watching - and crucially, place bets while you do it.”

Eyal Natan, CEO of One2All.TV

With this integration, all Maincard clients - whether launching sportsbooks, casinos, lotteries, or sweepstakes - can now offer a Virtual Game Room experience: turning streams into shared spaces where viewers don't just watch, but chat, talk, see each other on video - and bet on the games they're watching

Game-Changing Social Betting

This integration redefines the betting experience. Whether it's live sports, esports, or casino action, players are no longer alone. They're part of a virtual room with other - debating odds, reacting to goals, placing bets together, and inviting friends in with one click.

“The social component in iGaming is a game-changer”, said Valerii Makovetskii, CEO of Maincard.io.

“With One2all.tv, our clients don't just launch iGaming platforms - they launch betting communities.”

“We've built a tech layer that makes watching feel like hanging out - stakes,” said Eyal Natan, CEO of One2all.tv. “You can see, hear, and engage with others while watching - and crucially, place bets while you do it.”

Why This Partnership Matters

Full immersion: Viewers can interact via chat, video, and voice - while watching streams together.

Shared stakes: Betting becomes a social event, not a solitary action.

Organic growth: Players invite friends to join rooms, multiplying traffic and LTV without paid acquisition.

Turnkey integration: All of this is baked into Maincard's no-code launch system.

Let's Launch Together

Whether you're starting a sportsbook or expanding into social gaming, this partnership means one thing: your players won't just play—they'll stay.
