Solutions today announced a new strategic partnership with Cygenex, a leader in advanced diagnostic testing and personalized preventive health solutions. Through this collaboration, Cygenex will become part of B.Well Edge, Blackwell's portfolio of best-in-class solutions designed to help employers proactively manage healthcare costs and improve outcomes.

“B.Well Edge is about giving employers access to innovative programs that drive measurable results,” said Scott Byrne, President, Blackwell Captive Solutions. “Cygenex's expertise in understanding healthcare and genetic risks adds an important layer of precision and preventive insight—helping employers address risks earlier and improve member health while lowering long-term costs.”

Cygenex brings a portfolio of advanced diagnostic testing and an early detection risk platform that empowers clinicians, employers, and employees to identify health risks before they escalate into costly claims. This proactive and preventative approach aligns directly with Blackwell's mission of bending the healthcare cost curve for self-funded employers.

“At Cygenex, our mission is to provide employers and individuals with actionable health insights that can change lives,” said Charles Clark, chief executive and chief technical officer of Cygenex,. “Partnering with Blackwell allows us to deliver our solutions within a forward-thinking captive model that prioritizes innovation, risk management, and better outcomes for employees.”

As part of B.Well Edge, Cygenex is available to all Blackwell members as an optional buy-up solution, complementing the B.Well Blueprint core offerings that are included for every Blackwell group.
