Laboratories as the first sponsor. The new series will continue to expand with delegations of innovators across the APAC region, helping global innovators across industries overcome entry barriers and achieve scalable success in the U.S as part of DAC. More details will be announced for the media and local healthcare ecosystem players and leaders. Headquartered in Boston, the company is an award-winning group of global business development and marketing experts with a turnkey market expansion expertise for global industry innovators.

“For U.S. medical device companies and health systems, this is a unique opportunity to identify and integrate cutting-edge innovations that can differentiate product portfolios and accelerate growth,” said Suzy Im, U.S. Trade Show and Business Development

Expert, and Managing Partner at BDMT Global. “Partnering with these South Korean pioneers provides a vital strategic advantage, offering access to a vetted pipeline of advanced know-how to enhance product offerings, stay ahead of the competition, and ultimately deliver superior value to the healthcare market.” Presentations will feature breakthroughs in AI-driven diagnostics, advanced biosensor microchips, and novel biotherapeutic agents, all designed to address critical unmet needs in patient care.

“These innovations offer a first look at the next generation of medical technology, from lab-accurate portable testing to advanced AI analysis and targeted disease treatment, including mental conditions. Together, these advances reflect a new era of precision, accessibility, and intelligence in healthcare innovation,” said Im. Innovators were chosen as part of the Top 40 Emerging S. Korean Healthcare Innovations List selection process, featuring a cohort of U.S. healthcare ecosystem leaders (including physicians and MedTech innovators) as judges to identify promising technologies for solving local needs.

There will be a variety of activities, including poster and panel presentations, investor pitches, product demos, networking opportunities, and more throughout the event on the main floor, as well as at the BDMT booth #959. U.S. entities are encouraged to contact sabrina@bdmtglobal.com to secure complimentary conference access.
